Biography – Elsa Evripidou

With a Greek Cypriot father and a Finnish mother, Elsa brings an understanding of multiculturalism that proved invaluable on Monsoon Tide. After graduating with a degree in German language and literature, she has had a varied career including working in Human Resources, teaching English, toy marketing and Tourism. She has worked with Nick Fletcher for Ghost Films for a number of years and co-wrote one of the stories in the film The Fourth Dimension.

For Monsoon Tide, Elsa has worked as a Producer and has proved to be an indispensable asset for Nick, working through the development drafts of Monsoon Tide as Script Editor and she may take a good deal of credit for helping turn out a polished screenplay which withstood the rigours, tests and constraints of shooting in India.

Elsa showed her undeniable versatility by stepping in as Production Manager on the UK-based shoots.

Elsa is currently writing a screenplay entitled Road to Samsara which is set in Kerala, India and has been inspired by the beautiful country and wonderful people.
